

Cellyte FTG series GEL SEC Industrial Battery

What is a SEC cellyte 12fta battery?

The SEC CELLYTE 12FTA batteries are constructed using heavy duty at pasted plates and 'U' fold wrapped non woven Absorbed Glass Mat (AGM) separator. The SEC CELLYTE 12FTG batteries are constructed using advanced Gelled electrolyte ensuring reliable performance, safety, outstanding battery life and value.

What is a gel battery?

These batteries are of the Absorbed Glass Mat (AGM) or Gelled electrolyte (GEL) technology. The electrolyte in the cell is immobilized in a specially formulated non woven glass mat separator or in a thixotropic GEL. All the acid is absorbed in this manner providing a safe non-spillable battery.

How does SEC's VRLA cell work?

SEC's VRLA cells incorporated the Philadelphia Scientific Monobloc precious metal Catalyst Catvent which prevents the negative plate from depolarizing reduces the cell out current by up to 50%, reduces the cell gassing by about 80%, reduces cell dry out which is the major cause of VRLA battery failure.

The SEC Cellyte ETG series of OPzV VRLA Tubular Gel single cells is a traditional design that complies with International DIN standards. The range is engineered with die cast tubular grids and gelled electrolyte which reduces the need for topping up and makes the product virtually maintenance free.

1.1 CELLYTE 12FTA& G Battery, with Catalyst, Characteristics The CELLYTE 12FTA& G Front Terminal battery is a valve-regulated lead-acid recombinant battery designed for stationary applications. The 12FTA battery uses Absorbed Glass Mat (AGM) technology, 12FTG battery uses thixotropic Gelled electrolyte (Gel) both battery types are fitted

The Cellyte TLG range is a rugged design that uses gel technology combined with thick lead calcium grids. Perfect for deep cycle applications including renewable energy, golf carts, mobility, marine and semi-traction, where a tough, no-nonsense battery is required.

The SEC Cellyte CMTG series of VRLA Gel single cells builds on the Cellyte CMT platform, adding the benefit of true thixotropic gelled electrolyte to improve cycling capability. The resulting range is perfect for all extreme deep cycling applications. The range also incorporates SEC's industry leading CatVent catalyst technology as standard.
